

Week of April 16 to April 20, 2018

Equities	Commodities
Canada's main stock index hit a near-one month high this Wednesday, supported by financial and energy stocks. U.S. stock indexes fell on Friday, with Apple leading declines in the technology sector. The Dow Jones got a boost from General Electric, which jumped more than 3%.	Oil prices climbed this week to their highest since late 2014 amid a decline in U.S. crude inventories and after sources said top exporter Saudi Arabia aims to push prices even higher.
Fixed income	Currencies
The 10-year Treasury yield reached on Friday its highest level since March 21 as a bond selloff continued for a second day, driving the yield curve steeper after two weeks of flattening.	The Canadian dollar edged higher against its U.S. counterpart on Thursday after hitting a one-week low the day before, as oil prices climbed and data showed a jump in domestic employment.
